PREFACE

For African Americans, the institution of slavery often presents a “Brickwall” to tracing their ancestry. The names of slaves never appeared in the U.S. Census, slaves could not execute legal documents, and the majority of slaves had no recorded surname.

There are, however, many public records that can help overcome the Brickwall:

- Manumission Deeds
- Bills of Sale of Slaves
- Lists of Slaves Brought into the State (termed Certifications)
- Wills Manumitting Slaves
- Wills Transferring/Bequeathing Slaves
- Estate Inventories Listing Slaves
- Certificates of Freedom
- Commissioner of Slave Statistics Records 1868 (Maryland)
- 1832 Free Blacks Census of Maryland (partial)
- Free Negro Registers (Virginia)

A decade or so ago access to these various records required a trip to the local library or courthouse, or, in many cases, a journey to the Maryland State Archives in Annapolis. Since that time, however, the State of Maryland has instituted a program of photographing many these records and placing the images online. Links to the growing number of these digital files are available at the Maryland State Archives (MSA) website. A partial listing is found at the following site: <http://guide.msa.maryland.gov/pages/county.aspx?type=CE&action=viewSeriesList>. For Frederick County, Deed Books contain manumission deeds, bills of sale and certifications, and can be found at <https://mdlandrec.net/main>.

These digital document images, however, are not content searchable, and thus it is time consuming to carry out a thorough search. Some records, e.g., Deed Books, contain indices, but these do not reference all documents that involve manumissions, nor do they contain the names of most of the slaves involved. Thus, many relevant documents can easily be overlooked. The present work sought to remedy this problem by creating a searchable digital datafile containing all slave names mentioned in manumission-related documents in the Deed Books. To do so, every document in the Deed Books was read in digital form to extract relevant information. Physical copies of the originals at the Frederick County Court House were consulted when the digital image was difficult to read or pages were missing from the online files.

TITLE PAGE IMAGE

This is a photocopy of the earliest deed freeing a slave in Frederick County, MD: Dick, age 30, freed by Eliz. & James (dec'd) Holmard upon the death of Eliz. Holmard. Deed Book E, p. 522, recorded 8/22/1754.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The author began this project in 2011, working from a copy of a partial listing of manumission deed references created by Jennifer Flowers. In subsequent years, with the aid of two McDaniel College students (Aminata Lashley and Christen Johnson) many more relevant deeds were found by searching the Deed Book Indices. In doing so, however, we encountered numerous relevant documents that were not indexed as manumissions. This necessitated reading every document in the Deed Books from 1748 through 1865 to construct a complete database of slaves involved in manumission documents. A second reading of all of the deed books was performed to verify the information in the database. The present compendium is the result of this work.

We also thank the many individuals who have made this and other efforts of FrederickRoots possible through their kind and generous support over the years.

Manumission Deeds of Frederick County, Maryland, 1748 - 1865

Introduction

This compendium contains a compilation of manumission data for 3,877 slaves found in 2,379 documents in the Deed Books of Frederick County, MD from 1748 through 1865. The vast majority of the entries concern the freeing (manumission) of one or more individuals. If a slave was mentioned in a manumission deed, but was not to be freed, that person's name has been included, with the notation "not freed." Of the individuals listed, 54% have a recorded surname. Owing to the legal status conferred by manumission, this percentage is higher than that for the broader population of slaves. For many individuals, only a first name, or in a few instances, simply a description, e.g., "child of ...," was found and was entered into the database.

The information contained in this compendium has been organized in two volumes, each containing two tables:

Volume 1, Ordered by Name

Table 1 Alphabetical by Slave Name

Table 2 Alphabetical by Owner Name

Volume 2, Chronological

Table 1 Chronological Deeds

Table 2 Supplementary Notes

Volume 1 was created because we expect that most users of this compendium will be searching for information relating to the freeing of a particular individual or manumissions by a particular slave owner.

Table 1 lists every slave mentioned in a particular deed on a separate line. These data are then ordered/sorted alphabetically by the slave's name. Sorting was done first by surname and then by first name. Individuals with no surname appear in the latter portion of the table. 1703 individuals had a surname listed, 2174 individuals did not.

Table 2 has the same data as Table 1, but is ordered/sorted alphabetically by the owner's name (first by surname, then by first name). For some deeds, there were multiple owners. These data were sorted based on the name of the first owner listed in the deed. The only way to locate any additional owners would be to search the pdf file for a particular owner name.

The Entry # for each data line is the same in both Table 1 and Table 2 (and the same as the Entry # in the tables of Volume 2).

Users of Volume 1 need to be aware that Table 2 of Volume 2 contains (in the Notes column) additional information for every line in the tables of Volume 1. This important information can easily be found by looking up the same Entry # in Volume 2, Table 2 (which lists the entry numbers in sequential order).

Volume 2 is a reference file replicating the order in which manumission information appears in the Deed Books. In this format, it is easy to see all of the slaves who were freed in a deed, often revealing familial ties among some or all of the slaves. The Entry #'s of both Tables 1 and 2 in this volume are in sequential order (i.e., (1, 2, 3, ...)). The same Entry # is used in both tables for the line of information for a specific individual in a specific deed. And, as was noted above, this is the same number used in Tables 1 and 2 of Volume 1.

Table 1 is a sequential (essentially chronological) listing of all of the Deed Book manumission data, following the order of the Deed Books and the pagination therein. This organization offers the advantage of collecting together, in a series of lines, all of the information retrieved from a particular manumission deed. As with the tables in Volume 1, all of the data for a particular slave appears on a single line of the table. And, the Entry #'s are the same in both tables of Volume 1.

Table 2 contains additional information for every data line in all of the other tables in the compendium. It contains the date each document was written, as well as Notes of important additional information found in many of the deeds, e.g., familial relationships, prior owners, special conditions of manumission, and status of yet-unborn children (“future increase”).

Some deeds contained a bill of sale for the slave, in addition to the manumission. These deeds are referred to herein as BOS,Manu deeds. For this type of document, Table 2 includes the name(s) of the buyer(s). It should be noted that in some BOS,Manu deeds, the BOS portion is “conditional,” i.e., it is actually a mortgage, not an outright sale, unless the debt is not repaid.

In a small, but significant, number of cases, the owner (and/or buyer) was a free Negro (FN). Because of particular interest in such manumissions, columns are included in Table 2 to highlight (with a “1”) these instances.

The majority of the deeds recorded in 1864 and 1865 are manumissions for service in the Union Army (U.S. Colored Troops). It is likely that these were written to provide supportive evidence for future government compensation claims by the owner. Consult Commissioner of Slave Statistics Record: Frederick County, Maryland 1864, by Richard H. Smith, Jr., for more detail on this issue.

Column Explanations for Vol.1 Tables 1 & 2, and Vol. 2 Table 1:

Entry #:

Each table begins with an Entry # column. Throughout all of the tables in both Volume 1 and Volume 2, this number refers to the line of data concerning the same individual in the same deed. Note that this is also true for Vol. 2 Table 2, which contains additional information for each entry.

Slave Name:

The First Name column for an entry often includes information about the individual’s age at the time the original document was written and, in some cases, familial relationship information (e.g., dau. of ...). Note that the recorded date for the deed may not be the same as the date it was written.

The date the deed was written will be found in Vol.2 Table 2 under the same Entry #. The Last Name column is left blank if no surname was included in the deed.

The user needs to be aware that in the 18th and 19th Centuries, spelling was often simply phonetic. And, it was apparently acceptable to use different spellings of the same name in a single document. Therefore, it is important to check for variant spellings of first and last names, for both slaves and owners.

Date Freed:

Information contained in this column appears in several forms. The notation “immed.” means “as of the date the deed was signed and conveyed to a second party.” An “@” entry denotes “freed upon reaching the age of.” If a specific date appears in this column, it is the date when emancipation is supposed to occur.

Owner Name:

Interpretation of the information in these two columns requires little explanation. For multiple owners, however, the first names and last names, separated by “/”, are to be interpreted in sequential order. For example, John/Mary Jones/Smith means John Jones and Mary Smith. The presence of “[FN]” following a name designates that the owner is a Free Negro, a term in common legal usage at the time for a freedman. The same holds for the buyer surname in Vol. 2 Table 2 for manumission deeds in which a bill of sale (BOS) is included in the deed. This type of document is referred to throughout as a BOS,Manu.

Date Recorded:

This is the date that the County Clerk’s office officially recorded the deed. The recorded date may be prior to the date the deed was written and the date it was certified by one or more Justices of the Peace. In general, all three of these dates appear in a recorded deed. When time related items are found in such a deed, it is assumed that they are to be referenced to the date the deed was written. Note that the date of writing for each deed can be found in Vol. 2 Table 2 under the same Entry #.

Deed Book Reference:

From 1748 to 1776, Frederick County Deed Books and references therein were designated by a single, sequential alphabetical letter (liber) and page number (folio). The last such volume was W, and it appears that a few of the early volumes have been lost. Beginning in 1775, deed books and references were designated by the initials of the serving County Clerk (until a new clerk took office), followed by sequential liber and folio numbers.

Column Explanations for Table 2 of Volume 2:

Entry #:

Table 2 of Volume 2 begins with an Entry # column. As was noted above, for a given line of information concerning a specific individual slave in a specific deed, the same Entry # is used in all of the tables of both Volumes 1 and 2.

Doc Type:

Most of the entries in this column are “Manu” and designate that the deed contains information relating to the manumission (freeing) of one or more individuals. In cases where the entry is “BOS/Manu”, this denotes a document that is both a bill of sale (BOS) for one or more individuals (slaves) and a deed with information relating to the manumission (freeing) of one or more individuals.

BOS/Manu Buyer Name:

For documents of the BOS/Manu type, there will be a buyer(s) associated with the bill of sale portion of the document. In the case of multiple buyers, names are formatted in the same fashion as has been explained above for multiple owners. As to who initiated the manumission (buyer or seller), the original deed needs to be consulted. Legally, however, the buyer would be required to follow through with the manumission at the time dictated by the original owner.

FN Owner, Buyer Columns:

The owner of the slave to be manumitted was a freedman (FN) in 146 entries. And, the buyer (in a BOS/Manu deed) of an individual to be freed was a freedman in 35 entries. Columns have been added and marked with a “1” to make it easy to find these entries. These deeds entries are of particular interest, because generally they refer to the manumission of a close relative of the owner and/or buyer.

Notes:

This column contains various information that will provide more information about the nature of the transaction. If money is exchanged as part of the process, that is included in British pounds (£) or U.S. dollars ($). To conserve space, names of individuals are often shortened to their initials, with the full name appearing elsewhere in the entry. The user is strongly advised to consult the original document (www.mdlandrec.com) to clarify the abbreviated comments included in this column. On occasion, the author of this work has added his own comments or cross references to other deeds in square brackets [].
